I hope you are doing well. I sincerely thank you for giving me the opportunity to attend the interview for the AI-ML / Data Science role. It was a valuable experience interacting with your team and learning more about the expectations of the role.

I am continuously working on improving my technical and problem-solving skills, especially in areas such as machine learning, data analysis, and core computer science concepts. I would be grateful if you could share any feedback regarding my interview performance, as it would help me understand my strengths and identify areas where I can improve.

Thank you once again for your time and consideration. I truly appreciate the opportunity and look forward to learning and growing further.

Sincerely,
